

COLLIN COUNTY PRECINCT 109

Hi:

I'm back in Texas after a detour of almost half a century. And honored to be Collin County's newest Precinct 109 Chair.

In case it's of interest, the detour took me twice through Vietnam, twice through the Swamp (a.k.a. D.C.), once through forever-Blue Boston; and penultimately to Hawaii where I fought, and lost to, the Never-Trumper/McCain/Romney/The Bushes-Three, Political Class as they turned a deeply religious, conservative, population Deep Blue and made Republicans irrelevant.

Irrelevant: All Hawaii State Senators, All US Senators, All US House of Representative members, All Mayors and the Governor are 100% Socialists; And only 5, barely nominal, Republicans in the 51 seat Hawaii State House of Representatives.

No matter. Today I write:

- I. To ask that anyone in Collin County Precinct 109, who is able and willing to create and sustain regular meetings for the purpose of Doing New Things to reverse our County's slide into blueness, please contact me (by email or at 808-542-5400).

I'm starting from scratch, because my new duties didn't come with an email list. And then Republicans surrendered our right to peaceably assemble without so much as a whimper. So if you know any other Pct 109 members, please pass this email along.

As an aside: It angers me to see how easily the high priests of Politically self-Censored (PC) Speak intimidated so many people into redefining "Shall Not Be Abridged" to include "except sometimes", and even trained Republicans and Conservatives to call PC Speak "Correct". But that's for another day.

- II. Second, this email exposes a Pct 109 web site that's still very much under construction. It's purpose will be to give substance to the the goal of "Doing New Things". Collin County 109

So far, all effort has gone into creating the functionality needed to do more than just post cool pages. (In case anyone has enterprise level server-side skills I can use your help).

The traveling glitch is just a silly proof of concept for the ability to include animation.

The lexicon seems pretty solid.

Ditto the popups for notes and things, and the ability to simultaneously open multiple level-2 pages.

As for content ... there are many miles to go.

The plan is to build outward from the American Lexicon. That's because Words are what permit humans to conceive of, communicate, and comprehend big concepts. Therefore if you control a human's vocabulary you literally control how, and what, she or he is able think.

Otherwise the existing content consists of musings about, and guesses at, what's needed to assemble a sustained offense targeted at eliminating those whoes goal is Power they hope to acquire by "Taking the System Down".

It will take much work to complete. Faster with help than without. But regardless of the speed, it helps to remember: Everyone has the will to win: Only winners have the will to prepare.

- III. I'm also begging for, and will welcome, help from anyone, anywhere, who's interested in Good Governance, instead of "this is the way we've always done things" politics.

People, who understand the purpose of education is Action, not just learning. And who agrees Collin County, Texas, and the United States has slid further blue than most are willing to admit they see.

People who know enough about the design of America's government to realize in America you cannot "Throw The Bums Out", no matter how brilliantly you explain to each other how bad they are. If your goal isn't to offer replacements then you are just whining.

Therefore, development of the web site will be guided by the goal of finding people willing to stand for public office, and then helping them with more than advice accompanied by our personal wish list of things we want them to have government give, or do for, us.

I believe it is equally important, to find the courage, honor and honesty required to discipline any office holder we help if, after election, she or he fails to honor the pledges she or he made to get elected. Something I don't see existing today.

I know, for now it is often necessary to hold our noses, work, and vote, to keep the least disappointing Republicans in office. But I also know that down that path lies irrelevance. As I witnessed happen in Hawaii. So the goal is electing better, not whining about how bad "They" are.

All the while keeping in mind even the most perfect content is naught but useless whining, until and unless, it represents a consensus forged among enough voters to give the Political Class good reason to pause in fear before dismissing us with a head-pat and pabulum.

So please check out the help wanted menu item in the web site, or just volunteer, because every bit of help of every type is prized, welcomed, and needed.

That's it ... Even a journey of 1,000 leagues begins with a first step. And this is mine.

The site has only been tested on Chrome. Willy Gates' Edge is notoriously non-compliant with most standards, so I know Edge will not display the site well. Firefox, Mozilla, mobile phones, et. al. who knows?

More detail as it grows.

To be fair I need to disclose I have zero tolerance for living on the defense, which I fear too many Republicans/Conservatives in the political class have made their first response to every challenge .

And as every combat veteran knows ... being put into defense is a death sentence, figuratively, and too often literally. So please help regain the offense.

Because, as the Socialists, and other swamp dwellers know, they don't need to defeat President Trump. They only need another 50%-50% coin flip result to intimidate the Never&ndash;Trumpers into helping keep the President tied in knots until the clock removes him in 4 years, as it did to, now forgotten, President Reagan.

Then we stand or fall on our own.

Be well,
Stay safe,
And let's build some teams to win a lot

Happy Trails,

George L. Berish

Unrelated, But Important, Aside:

What's with Democrats keeping Joe on life support ? I think it's simple :

Democrats had their party hijacked by wacko young socialists for whose lunacy the Party knew knew the Democrat majority had no stomach.

So they needed a comforting "conventional" Uncle Joe type to get rid of them in the primary. And that worked well.

Next, Joe needed to stay a candidate, because if he got to be a legitimate Presidentail Candidate it would forever protect him, and his son, from their well deserved felony convictions. And that worked well.

Next, the Democrats need Uncle Joe to turn the Presidentail Debates to mush, because they know if they allowed a forum for direct debate on Democrat behaviour they would go down in humiliating embarassment.

And I know that will work well.

First "The Virus" will "require" separate locations. And that means split TV screens that will let Joe go off air while his handlers do damage repairs, and maybe adjust his meds, between screw ups.

Second, a Never-Trumper swarm will be incessantly buzzing in the President's ear not be "mean spirited" to Joe, because "They might say Bad Things about Us" if you are too hard on him.

The final Chess Move will be to wait till a week or so before the election. Then ... OMG ... Joe will be struck by a horrible "unforseen" illness too sensitive to talk about.

Then a teary-eyed Joe's family will "sadly" televise that poor Joe is devastated, but for the good of the country cannot continue.

Followed by a Democrat claim they are now free to replace him. (Please don't embarrass either of us by claiming that "Under the Rules, They Can't Do That". Of course they can, and Never-Trumpers will help them claim these are extraordinary circumstances that require extraordinary procededures.

That will free Democrats to bring in another Obama-like candidate from nowhere. For sure, an approved "minority". Equally for sure, not Hillary or Machell, to leave Republicans/Conservatives once again caught like a doe in the headlights

A blank slate that no one will have time to even begin vetting.

Someone who is then free to tell Republicans/Conservatives any lie she or he know they are desperately eager to believe ... with no discoverable record of having said anything else.

Something like :

"Oh ... I know, young Democrats got lost in their passion. But that's what young people do, isn't it?"

"But as you and I know, now is the time WE AMERICANS NEED to COME TOGETHER and MOVE ON.

"To leave the Angry Partisanship of the Trump Administration Behind ... and HEAL

"To WORK ACROSS THE ASILE ... blah blah blah."

But I know talk is cheap. So instead of squabbling about how they can never do that, how about I ask if anyone wants to bet against that outcome?

Grin ... I have to fund the offense somehow.
